

Sad Results of a Young Lady's Folly.
PORTERVILLE, Pa., March 4.—Five years ago Miss Mary Athers, of this place, advertised in a Boston paper for a husband. Among other responses to her advertisement was one from John H. Johnston, of Rutland, Vt., who, in consequence, resulted from the advertisement, and three months after the card was inserted, in accordance with the request of the person answering to that name she went to Rutland and was married to him. Miss Athers was the daughter of William H. Athers, cashier of the Baltimore Bank, of this place. Her parents were entirely unknown to her parents. When she left home she said she was going to Boston to visit a college friend. Four weeks after she went away she returned, and she said that her parents were standing the fact that her father had accepted the situation, and Johnston being a gentlemanly appearing man and a good book-keeper, he had left her two months before he answered Miss Athers' advertisement. He supposed, he says, that all intercourse with her was at an end, and thought that she would never trouble him again. He left his victim, however, and went to live with his true wife and family.

ANOTHER WIFE APPEARS.
On Wednesday last a lady with two children, both under eight years of age, appeared in Porterville. She inquired for Mr. Johnston, saying that she was his wife, and that she was the father of her children. Her story was not believed at first, but when Johnston acknowledged that it was all true the village was thrown into the most intense excitement. Johnston said that he had been unable to live with his wife, and that he had left her two months before he answered Miss Athers' advertisement. He supposed, he says, that all intercourse with her was at an end, and thought that she would never trouble him again. He left his victim, however, and went to live with his true wife and family.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY IN NEW YORK.—It is finally settled that the usual St. Patrick's parade will take place in New York on the 17th of the month. The route will be much shorter than usual, for the reason that the march down to the City Hall has always been productive of serious annoyance to the business interests in the narrow, crowded streets. The procession therefore, on this occasion, will not go to the City Hall. The Mayor and Common Council will review it at Union Square instead of in front of the City Hall, as heretofore.
